DETAILED ACTION

Remark

This communication is responsive to the amendment and Request for Continued Examination (RCE) filed on 10/2/2006. Claims 27-45 are presented for examination.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/2/06 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Application/Control Number: 10/764,341

Art Unit: 2628

3. Claims 27- are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sequeria US (6185585).

Considering claim 1, Sequeria discloses at figs. 1-6, discloses a method (e.g., item 120 of fig. 1) of displaying visual content (e.g., Internet contents or web page's bitmap, see col. 2, lines 60-65) on a client (124, fig. 1) comprises establishing (106, fig. 1) a communications link between the client and a server (104, fig. 1); providing (via e.g., via item 122 and/or 124 of fig. 1) a selection of versions of visual content (see item 610 of fig. 6) on the server to the client (see col. 4, lines 36-50, and lines 1-2 and 60-63 of col. 5); preparing (via item 132 of fig. 1A associated with client 124), in response to a selection of a version of the visual content, a rendering of the selected version of the visual content (see item 620, fig. 6); at the server (which is interpreted to correlate the functions of items 104 and 122), transforming the rendered version of the visual content into a bitmap (see col. 6, lines 26-33), and transmitting the bitmap to the client device for display thereon (see col. 6, lines 26-43).

As per claims 28-29, Sequeria discloses the selection of versions of the visual content include text only, text and image, overview and detail view of the visual content, wherein the selection is made by the client (as characterized by the disclosure at col. 7, line 63 to col. 8, line 15 in light of lines 1-2 and lines 60-63 of col. 5).

Application/Control Number: 10/764,341

Art Unit: 2628

As per claim 30, Sequeria discloses the selection of versions of visual content is presented for manual selection by a user of the client device (as characterized by the disclosure at col. 5, lines 1-2 and lines 60-63 and col. 6, lines 8-14).

The invention of claim 38 contains features that are analogous to the limitations recited in claim 27. This being the case, claim 38 is therefore rejected under the same rationale as claim 27, wherein the client attributes correspond to the different partitioning of the web pages hyperlinked selection characterized in Sequeria's col. 6, lines 19-43.

Re claims 40-41, Sequeria discloses selection of attribute of visual content is made by the client device and presented for manual selection by a user of the client device. See col. 5, lines 1-2, and col. 6, lines 6-15.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 34-35, and 42-43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sequeria in view of Hind et al. (US 6715129).

Re claim 34, Sequeria fails to teach source transcoding and extracting prior to rendering of the selected version of said visual content.

Application/Control Number: 10/764,341 Page 5

Art Unit: 2628

However, the Examiner takes official notice that such a practice is well known in the art as evidence of Hind. See abstract and col. 1, lines 17-30, and col. 2, lines 18-49. Please note that transcoding in itself includes an extracting step where certain types of encoded visual content data are transformed into bitmap representation for display.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the features of Sequeria to include source transcoding and/or extracting prior to rendering of the selected version of said visual content in the same conventional manner as taught by; in order to reduce the size of the information content before it is transmitted from the server to a client that has requested the document, and/or to tailor the output document according to application-specific characteristics.

Claims 42-43 are rejected under the same rationale as claims 34-35.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 31-33, 36-37, 39, and 44-45 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims, because the prior art of record fails to teach the method comprises the steps of determining a display attribute of the client device in response to the providing of a selection of versions of visual content on the server to the client; and automatically selecting a version of the visual content based on the display attribute of the client device (as recited in claims 31and 39); a multi-level raster transformation and raster extraction of the rendered selected
